

HR Huddle Series

Practical Realities of Managing through the Pandemic Session Two

COVID-19 and Return to the Workplace: A Case Study

Panelists:

Daniel MacKay – HR Professional and Panel Moderator
Nick Casassa – Controller, ADS Inc.
Dena Corr – Vice President of HR, Bauer Compressors
Jeff Jaycox – President, Tabet Manufacturing
Brad Salter – Chief Financial Officer, TST Construction

Brought to you by:

The HR Huddle Series discusses the challenges of managing the impact of COVID-19 for a small-to-medium sized business, particularly as employees begin to return to the office.

Session 2 of the Series

Join a panel of local experts on Thursday, November 19th from 2-3pm to review a case study about challenges and solutions related to a return to the workplace during the pandemic.

Program Hosts

- Dan Bell, Hampton Roads Innovation Collaborative
- Dave Richards, Concursive Corporation

Format: Live Case Study

Listen as experts discuss how a fictional manufacturing company might navigate the challenges and issues posed by remote work and the need to return employees to the workplace. Specifically, what are the key considerations regarding safety, employee wellbeing, finance, and customer service. The case study will explore the negotiations and collaborations among department leaders as they manage through competing priorities while focused on achieving business objectives. Review the short case study in advance and consider how your thinking, experiences and ideas might align with theirs.

The Panel

- Daniel MacKay – HR Professional and Panel Moderator
- Nick Casassa – Controller, ADS Inc.
- Dena Corr – Vice President of HR, Bauer Compressors
- Jeff Jaycox – President, Tabet Manufacturing
- Brad Salter – Chief Financial Officer, TST Construction

Audience

- Business owner / leader with limited Human Resources staff
- Human Resources Professionals

Eventbrite Registration: <https://hrhuddlesession2.eventbrite.com>