

RevolutionConf

Is one-day, platform and language agnostic, software development conference being held on May 13, 2016 in Virginia Beach, VA. Join us for a day of coding, learning and networking while overlooking the beautiful sand and beaches of Virginia Beach.

Background

Just 2-3 years ago our region basically didn't have a software development community. Most developers were locked up on a military base somewhere and there was little interaction outside of one's company. Now we have a thriving community with several meetups occurring regularly
