

Tuesday, April 25, 2017

THE WOMEN'S FORUM
OF COASTAL VIRGINIA

11 AM to 1:00 PM

Kaufman &
Canoles, PC

150 W. Main St.
Ste. 2100
Norfolk, VA 23510

$30 (includes Lunch)
$10 Student Discount

ANTONELLA
PIANALTO

ADDIE WRIGHT
THOMASON

Antonella Pianalto
President & CEO
Association of Women's
Business Centers (AWBC)

Addie Wright Thomason
President & CEO
Second Act Communities
and the Virginia Beach
Community Development Corporation

The Women's Forum of Coastal VA presents:

Channeling your Passion and Driving Change

"Advocating for what is most important to women in business"

For several generations, many prominent figures have led the charge on a variety of issues affecting women – including those that fall under the pillars of economic and constitutional justice such as equality in pay, job opportunities, and education – all of utmost importance to women in business yet many believe they will remain fallible without a guarantee of equality in the U.S. Constitution. No matter where one falls on the political spectrum, most will agree that while women have come a long way in the last fifty years, we still have a very long way to go. How can we effectively channel our passion today to drive the change we want to realize for the future? How can we continue to advocate for the issues most important to us as women in business?

WHO SHOULD ATTEND? Anyone wanting to learn about women's business challenges and what people are doing to overcome them.

To Register Go To: <https://thewomensforumapril2017.eventbrite.com>

INNOVATION
COLLABORATIVE
HAMPTON ROADS

